I chose to interview my Mom. Her name is Linda Ellis, she was born on January second in Salt Lake City. She lived in Salt Lake until she got married to my dad, then they moved to Ferron. She likes to sew, cook, camp and just have fun.

When my mom was little her and her family would go on a vacation every summer. This particular year they decided to go to Boston. They had been traveling what seemed like forever, and they finally arrived in Boston. After they had been there for a while they were walking around trying to find somewhere to eat lunch.

Finally they found a place that sounded good, so they went to stand in line. They had been standing there for about five minutes when someone tapped my mom on the shoulder.

"What?" asked my mom, to this little girl she had no idea who she even was.

"What is your name?" Asked the little girl.

"Linda, What is yours?" Asked my mom.

The little told her that her name was Cindy Brewman. Then she asked her "Where are you from?"

"Utah" said my mom.

"Are you a mormon?" The little girl asked, acting a little surprised.

"Yes" Said my mom, not knowing why she asked her that weird question.

Suddenly the girl grabbed my mom by her arm and drug her over to where her parents were sitting there eating their lunch.

"LOOK MOM, it's a mormon and she looks just like a normal little girl"

Then my mom just walked away and kept looking around to make sure that no other little weird girls grabbed her by the arm.

Ellis, John Taylor. 20 January 1956. Salt Lake City, Utah.
Personal Interview. Ferron, Utah. 09 April 1995.

My dads Grandma lived in Price a long time ago. While she lived there, her and her sister would always walk down town, to get some candy or something.

One day while her and her sister were walking down to the store, as they did daily they noticed a couple of guys who were arguing. Well they went into the store and came back out and those guys were still there fighting back and forth. They didn't want to get involved with anything so they just kept in walking. They went a little bit farther when on of they guys all of a sudden yells, "I'm going to kill you!"

They were just little girls so they got scared and started to walk even faster then they already were.

"Not unless I kill you first." Said one of the other guys.

So they were just walking along when they heard a gun shot, they got really scared and started to run. One of the guys fell to the ground. After it was all over some guy that the two girls knew came up to talk to them.

"Who was that?" Asked one of the girls.

"The one that shot him was Butch Cassidy, and the other one was just some fool that thought he was tough and could stand up to Butch Cassidy, boy was he wrong!!"

After that, the two girls ran all the way home to tell their mom that they saw Butch Cassidy shoot a guy. Their mom just thought they were making it up, so she sent them outside to play.
